tjbencomo@gmail.com

MD/PhD student at the University of Washington using informatics to improve our understanding and treatment of human disease. My research interests focus on using bioinformatics to elucidate disease biology, develop treatment strategies for precision medicine, and build tools to aide physician decision-making. I have several years of experience studying cancer through genomics and imaging based approaches. I'm also interested in open science and science education.

EDUCATION

MD/PhD	University of Washington Medical Scientist Training Program	2022 - present
BS	Stanford University, Computer Science Concentration in Biocomputation GPA: 3.99	2017 - 2021

HONORS AND AWARDS

Stanford Bio-X Summer Research Grant Funding for undergraduate research in the Dermatology department	2020
Tau Beta Pi Member Joined the engineering honors society	2020
Stanford VPUE Conference Grant Award to present research at Society For Investigative Dermatology Annual Meeting	2020
Mayo Clinic Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship Fellow studying glioblastoma in the Precision NeuroTherapeutics Program	2018 & 2019
TGen Helios Scholar High school intern in the Helios Program at TGen	2016
Helios Symposium Poster Award Winner Awarded for a top 10 poster at the intern symposium	2016

EXTRACURRICULARS

Tau Beta Pi Honors Society Board – Academic Co-Chair Organize academic development events and lead the Peer Mentorship Program	2020 – 2021
Computer Science Peer Mentor Advise and mentor underclassmen considering a major in Computer Science	2020 – 2021

---

Research Associate, Lee Lab, Stanford Medicine

2021 – present

Advisor: Carolyn Lee MD, PhD

- Worked as the lab bioinformatician
- Investigated mechanisms of perineural invasion using single cell sequencing
- Performed a meta-analysis of publicly available non-melanoma RNA-Seq datasets
- Studied metabolic reprogramming caused by non-coding mutations in metabolic genes
- Mentored undergraduate trainees

Undergraduate Researcher, Lee Lab, Stanford Medicine

2017 – 2021

Advisor: Carolyn Lee MD, PhD

- Characterized novel genes implicated in skin cancers using multi-omics data
- Examined survival data to find biomarkers for squamous cell carcinoma (SCC)
- Analyzed proteomics data to identify novel interactors for melanoma oncogene RAC1
- Developed NGS analysis pipelines and deployed on SLURM HPC cluster
- Assisted with experimental design and grant applications
- Used sequencing approaches to investigate molecular basis of rare skin diseases

Summer Undergraduate Research Fellow, Swanson Lab, Mayo Clinic

2018-2019

Advisor: Kristin Swanson PhD

- Analyzed MRI data to study blood brain barrier disruption in glioblastoma (GBM)
- Investigate sex-specific visual features of GBM on MRI
- Trained machine learning models to predict drug distribution in the brain from MRI
- Built prognostic models using radiomics data to predict patient survival
- Created data processing pipelines to process MR images and test registration methods
- Integrated processing pipelines with lab's codebase

Helios Scholar, Translational Genomics Research Institute

2016

Advisor: Seungchan Kim PhD and Gil Speyer PhD

- Redesigned the lab's EDDY algorithm to use NVIDIA's CUDA API
- Wrote C code and implemented memory optimizations to exploit GPU parallelism
- Helped secure $200,000 Compute 4 the Cure grant from NVIDIA
- Achieved 500x speedup; the algorithm can now analyze previously impossible datasets
